

Debbie's Insides

A deep dive into the heart and mind of your friendly, neighborhood author.

Hello friends,

Are y'all ready for a giveaway? More info on that below (but if you absolutely can't wait, scroll to the bottom).

Fall is quickly approaching and with that comes the promise of cooler weather, pumpkin spice flavored everything, and >my favorite< SPOOKY SEASON! What better way to celebrate the onset of Halloween than reading a book with a creepy atmosphere. Black magic, murder, and (of course) necromancy.

On that note, let me introduce you to villain of NTM, known as The Caster. A dangerous person desperate to steal CeCe's power and who haunts her dreams.

Here is an excerpt of their first interaction.

Pulling back, I try to return to my dorm, but drift closer to the caster. No matter how hard I put on the brakes, the strange leash drags me until I end up right outside the circle of ash. A gloved hand reaches to grab me by the neck, and darkness oozes into me at the contact. I gasp and struggle, not even sure how the grip holds. This is just a dream.

"CeCe LeBlanc, I need your magic." The mysterious voice whispers in the air around me. Terror makes me fight harder.

This person knows my name. They know I have magic.

Necromancy the Musical debuts September 26, 2023. If you're interested in a FREE copy, please fill out the form below. Three lucky winners will be notified through email by September 15.

Until next time,

Debbie out!
